Dear NOAA Administrator Spinrad and Assistant Administrator for Fisheries Coit:

The 3,051 undersigned US citizens, 520 from Florida, oppose the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council's proposed Amendment 10 to the Coral, Coral Reefs, and Hard Bottom Fishery Management Plan that would an open important part of the Oculina Bank Habitat Area of Particular Concern (OHAPC) to bottom trawling. See the specific petition language below.

Abundant conservation science shows that removing some of the decades-old protections for this deep-water coral ecosystem will harm the last remaining healthy parts of this unique marine environment, prevent recovery of Oculina coral areas that have been damaged by trawling, and will undermine the durability of habitat protections and designated protected areas under the Magnuson-Stevens Act. Coral Amendment 10 is in direct conflict with the Biden administration's vision for America the Beautiful and its commitment to conserving at least 30 percent of our Nation's land and waters by 2030. We urge NOAA to honor its decades-long commitment to protecting this unique ecosystem.

Dr. Sylvia Earle, a former chief scientist for NOAA , the head of Mission Blue and Explorer-in-Residence for National Geographic, has said of the Oculina Banks issue:

"The science is clear. The economics are clear. The ethical and moral mandates are clear. What remains of the intact East Florida Oculina reef system and the associated damaged areas, if left alone -- that is, protected from fishing, especially trawling, will yield enduring benefits now and forever. Giving a few shrimpers a green light to trawl these ancient systems into oblivion will destroy what could be an on-going source of life and livelihoods in exchange for a few bucks for a few people and then it will be over." -personal communication

Save the Oculina Coral Reef! This unique coral ecosystem is found nowhere else on earth!

In 1984 the Oculina Coral Reef Habitat, off of Florida's Atlantic coast, was placed in protected status by the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council (SAFMC). This was done to stop destructive rock shrimp fishing from decimating the coral reef habitat. Known as the Oculina Coral Habitat Area of Particular Concern (HAPC) this ecosystem became the first Marine Protected Area in the world to protect a deep-water coral reef.

This unique deep-water coral ecosystem is found nowhere else on earth. The Oculina ecosystem is important habitat for a variety of fish species (70 species) including scamp grouper, gag grouper, snowy grouper, speckled hind, and red snapper. This habitat provides spawning and nursery services for young fish, including commercially important grouper and snapper. Groupers support one of our most valuable fisheries in the State of Florida and in the Southeastern United States.

The South Atlantic Fishery Management Council (SAFMC) recently voted to open a portion of marine protected areas to commercial rock shrimp fishing. This was made possible by Trump Presidential Executive Order (EO) 13921 on Seafood Competitiveness and Economic Growth, which promotes consideration of opening protected waters to commercial fishermen.

The SAFMC and rock shrimp fishers are now using this Trump executive order to justify cutting into the protected Oculina Coral HAPC.

Ironically, opening this habitat area to Rock Shrimp Fishing, risks further damage to a “fish-nursery” rather than allowing it to fully heal. Habitats that provide “fish-nursey” services are critical to ensuring healthy commercial fish populations. Opening the boundaries of a protected area represents a giant step backwards in stewardship of our natural resources and sets a dangerous precedent for encroachment into other protected areas.

We still have a chance to save it!

NOAA Fisheries can deny this opening before Amendment 10 to the Fisheries Plan is approved by the Secretary of Commerce! Sign our petition asking that NOAA deny opening the “Oculina Coral Reef Habitat of Particular Concern” to Rock Shrimp Fishers.
