

Got Historic Fishing Photos?

Share them with the FISHstory project!

FISHstory uses historic fishing photos from the 1940s-1980s to document the catch and size of fish from a time before catch monitoring programs were in place.

To help this project grow, we need more historic fishing photos throughout the South Atlantic region!

Bring your historic fishing photos to the Council meeting on September 13th. We'll scan and return hard copy photos, gather background information, and share digital copies back with photo providers.

Photos need to:

- Be taken at the end of trips where fishermen are displaying their harvested catch
- Have a known year and location
- Include a vessel name, if possible
