“To Conserve and Manage”

The South Atlantic Fishery Management Council is one of eight regional fishery management councils in the United States. In 1976, Congress passed the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act to address concerns of foreign fishing fleets fishing close to U.S. shores. The Magnuson Act extended U.S. jurisdiction of fisheries offshore to 200 miles and created a new form original government through establishment of eight fishery management councils.

The role of the Council is to develop fishery management plans needed to manage fishery resources within the 200-mile limit. This limit, sometimes referred to as the Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ) or “federal waters”, extends offshore from state waters (three miles in the South Atlantic) to 200 nautical miles.

In 1996 the Sustainable Fisheries Act (SFA) became law and amended the Magnuson Act (renamed the Magnuson-Stevens Fishery Conservation and Management Act). Congress passed the SFA to protect marine fish stocks with expanded requirements to prevent and stop overfishing, minimize bycatch and protect habitat.

Headquartered in Charleston, South Carolina, the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council is responsible for the conservation and management of fish stocks within the EEZ limit off the coasts of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and the East Coast of Florida south to Key West.

The SAFMC Jurisdictional Boundary ranges from 3 to 200 miles off the coasts of NC, SC, GA and East Florida

Council Members

A total of 17 members serve on the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council with 13 having voting rights. Eight of these members are nominated by the governors of the four South Atlantic states and appointed by the Secretary of Commerce based on their knowledge and experience regarding the conservation and management, or the recreational or commercial harvest of fishery resources in the South Atlantic region. Other members serve on behalf of their respective state or federal agencies. Appointed Council members serve three-year terms and may serve up to three consecutive terms.

Public Participation

The Council's primary function is to prepare fishery management plans and plan amendments and provide recommendations for regulation of each fishery that requires conservation and management in the region under its jurisdiction.

The Council meets four times each year, once in each of the southeastern states. Before final action on any proposed rule change is taken, the Council involves the public through public scoping meetings, public hearings, and input at Council meetings. Proposed rule changes are then sent to NOAA Fisheries (National Marine Fisheries Service) for further review, public comment, and approval before being approved and implemented by the Secretary of Commerce. Learn more by visiting the Council's website at: <http://safmc.net/get-involved/public-input>.

In addition, the Council receives input and recommendations from knowledgeable people from other state and federal agencies, universities and members of the public who serve on various committees and panels.

Advisory Panels - members include recreational and commercial fishermen, headboat and charter operators, seafood buyers and sellers, conservationists, and consumers who are knowledgeable about a particular fishery. Members are appointed and serve three-year terms based on the last meeting of the advisory panel. Members may serve three consecutive terms.

Scientific and Statistical Committee - members include biologists, economists, sociologists and others knowledgeable in the technical aspects of fisheries. The SSC has a separate Socio-Economic Panel.

Stock Assessment Panel - members include biologists trained in the specialized field of population dynamics who assess the available biological data and advise the Council on the status of stocks and level of allowable biological catch.

Council Advisory Panels:

- Coral
- Citizen Science (Pool)*
- Citizen Science Action Teams
- Dolphin Wahoo
- Golden Crab
- Habitat Protection and Ecosystem-Based Management
- Information & Education
- Law Enforcement
- Mackerel Cobia
- Deepwater Shrimp
- Shrimp
- Snapper Grouper
- Spiny Lobster
- SEDAR (Pool)*

*All advisory panel members are considered part of the Citizen Science and Southeast Data, Assessment, and Review (SEDAR) stock assessment advisory panel or "pool". Members may be chosen to serve on a Citizen Science Action Team or serve on a stock assessment panel. Learn more about the SAFMC Citizen Science Program at <http://safmc.net/citizen-science-initiative/>. Learn more about the SEDAR Stock Assessment Program at <http://sedarweb.org>.
